

Why Should You Become an NCA Member?

Leadership

The NCA is the world's leading authority on candles and candle manufacturing, and the only U.S. organization working solely on behalf of the candle industry.

Approximately 80 percent of all candles manufactured in the United States are made by National Candle Association member companies.

Communication

The NCA monitors key matters of concern to the industry and communicates to members as events unfold. This includes:

- ▶ Research Studies
- ▶ Industry Standards
- ▶ Fire Safety Resources

Annual Conference & Expo

The US candle industry's largest single annual event.

- ▶ Suppliers & Manufacturers
- ▶ Technical Presentations
- ▶ Regulatory Updates
- ▶ Small-group Workshops

Research

The NCA proactively sponsors research to demonstrate that candles are safe to use. NCA Members have immediate access to research results. Studies includes topics such as:

- ▶ Candle Emissions
- ▶ Fire Safety/Fire Hazards
- ▶ Characteristics by Candle Type
 - ❖ Botanical
 - ❖ Fragrant

Advocacy

NCA is the voice for the U.S. candle industry before regulatory bodies in matters involving candle safety, environmental quality, and trade via:

- ▶ Defending tariff on imported candles
- ▶ Improving candle and candle accessory safety standards with ASTM committees
- ▶ Working with European candle industry to harmonize US & EU standards

Resources

Becoming a member of NCA gives you access to exclusive resources like:
